PRESENTATION

Research, for human beings, is an innate process that has its questions, doubts and uncertainties. In research, one wonders about why things are, which leads one to search for answers or explanations to these questions. However, in order to achieve scientific knowledge, research always requires a systematic, organized and verifiable method that allows us to demonstrate these investigations to communities at the local, national and international levels. These investigations are evidence of progress and research; which is based on the process of theory to social action in order to produce new knowledge.

It is important to present to various communities, the new and unpublished reflections, the results of investigations, and essays that convey theoretical or practical knowledge. This is accomplished through the publication of articles in journals, which allows us to understand the work of other researchers from different latitudes; thus, progress is made in the various topics of interest to the community, while also ensuring scientific continuity.

The institutional magazine, "ADELANTE -AHEAD" which recently completed two years of publication, has been working with the academic community as a magazine that disseminates new knowledge produced from the fruits of rigorous inquiry by its professor-researchers or the invited professors from other institutions in Spanish and English.

"ADELANTE -AHEAD" allows UNICOLOMBO to practice its investigative philosophy in all the disciplines of knowledge. This edition will publish articles related to four key aspects of the
